SALONICA

INCREASED ACTIVITY

AMERICA

AUSTRIAN RELATIONS

Advices from the Western front state that the British repulsed several enemy raids. The enemy sustained a number of casualties, and were taken prisoner.

British and French officers have been placed by the Germans in the concentration camp at Karlsruhe as a guarantee against aerial bombardments.

Violent reciprocal artillery actions are in progress on the northern frontier of Western Moldavia. Russian artillery is most active elsewhere, dispersing the enemy and destroying his positions.

In semi-official statements in the Vienna Press it is pointed out that Austria's position regarding America is now identical with Germany's. Austria, it is remarked, may easily drift into war with the United States.

Admiral Lacaze, French Minister for Marine, declares that the German submarine blockade will never succeed. Five more vessels have been sunk by submarines.

WESTERN FRONT.

ARTILLERY DUELS.

Extensive fighting has been reported in the Champagne region. The enemy has suffered a number of casualties. Some prisoners were taken.

A French communiqué states: German patrols that attempted to approach our lines near Neuville, in Belgium, were repulsed. There have been artillery duels on the right of the Meuse and in the Forest of St. Germain, but nothing else.

GERMAN REPORT.

A German official message states: South of Arras the British forced their way into our positions, but we ejected them. We counted 200 British dead.

EXCHANGE OF PRISONERS

BRITAIN'S NEGOTIATIONS.

In the House of Lords Lord Newton (Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs) said that there were 250 British civilians and 2000 soldiers in Germany. The exchange of civilians with Austria had not yet begun, because in exchange for a total of 20 British Austrians sought to receive the 1000 Austrians interned in Britain. The moderate treatment of prisoners in Austria was in sharp contrast to that in Germany. Britain and France were negotiating with Turkey with a view to exchanging prisoners and a full exchange of prisoners was being considered. The exchange of British and German prisoners had been effected, but it was hoped only temporary suspension, because of Germany's cold-blooded treachery.

SPAIN'S REPLY.

GERMANS DISAPPOINTED.

The Berlin correspondent of a local newspaper says that Germany has officially expressed displeasure at Spain's reply to the Note. It was expected that it would be similar to that of the other European neutrals, especially in view of Germany's promise to send food to Spain and buy her fruit.

GERMAN HATRED.

ANTI-BRITISH PROPAGANDA.

The Prussian party has subscribed 200,000 marks and engaged the Berlin "Neueste Nachrichten" and the "Deutsche Zeitung" in which an anti-British agitation will be conducted by Professor Schaefer and Houston Stewart Chamberlain.

The German Press is overjoyed that a new Englishman has accepted the lead in an anti-British propaganda service.

AMERICA.

CRISIS STILL ACUTE.

RELATIONS WITH AUSTRIA.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22. The Washington correspondent of the "New York World" says that the Government has been unofficially informed through neutral sources that Germany views with disapproval America's efforts to isolate Austria from Germany, and also regards the preparedness plans in America as essentially warlike, and that the intervention upon them is that the United States is merely seeking an excuse for inflicting a state of war.

Advices from Bern state that semi-official statements in the Viennese Press point out that Austria's position regarding America is now identical with Germany's, and Austria may easily drift into a state of war.

Opinion in Washington is that the adjustment of comparatively minor incidents, such as the Yarrowdale affair, means nothing in comparison with the momentous issues confronting President Wilson.

A pacifist meeting, representing more than 20 organisations, held a meeting in New York, and decided to urge the American people to enter the war. The principle of the referendum was approved by a small majority.

The former Berlin correspondent of the "New York Times" reports having had an interview with a most important banker, who said, "I am sorry to say that munition and money preparedness seem likely to give President Wilson the necessary push toward war, where he will find himself in company with Italy and Rumania."

The Judiciary committee of the Senate has decided not to report on the bill urged by Mr. Lansing (Secretary of State) concerning power on the President to use the army and navy to enforce America's rights and obligations, because it would give too much authority to one man.

The House of Representatives has passed an appropriation bill providing $50,000,000 for the army.

ROUMANIA.

ENEMY POSITIONS DESTROYED

LONDON, Feb. 22. A Rumanian communiqué issued on Wednesday stated: "Violent reciprocal artillery actions are in progress on the northern frontier of Western Moldavia. Russian artillery is most active elsewhere, dispersing the enemy and destroying his positions."

A Russian official message states: "The enemy made a dense attack north-west of Jarna Watra, but it failed."

A German official message states: "Between the Ducler and the Wooded Carpathians our surprise attacks succeeded."

A further German official message states: "We took 250 prisoners in the thrust eastward of Zlockow."

GREECE.

SERIOUS FOOD RIOTS.

ATHENS, Feb. 22. Food riots have taken place in many of the provinces. Reports from Corinth, Nauplia, Larissa, and other areas indicate serious trouble.

The Minister for the Interior states that after Sunday bread will be totally lacking in Athens and Piræus. The situation is critical in other towns, and insurrection and pillage are feared.

THE ITALIANS.

READY FOR EVENTS.

ROME, Feb. 22. It is semi-officially stated that there is not the slightest reason for anxiety in regard to reports that Austrians, under German generals, will be soon attempting a grand offensive.

The Italians are ready for all eventualities.

HOLLAND.

EXPORTS TO GERMANY.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 22. Commenting on the new British contraband order the "Telegraph" protests against Holland's one-sided export policy, pointing out that all surplus products are now being sent to Germany. A new bill is to be introduced into Parliament enabling for the more effective suppression of smuggling on the frontier, which is said to be seriously endangering Holland's international relations.

AUSTRIA AND BAVARIA.

POSSIBLE UNION.

LONDON, Feb. 22. The Home Secretary, Mr. Lloyd George, reports an intrigue between the Court and politicians in Vienna and Munich, with the object of preparing a union between Austria and Bavaria in the case of disaster to the Central Empires. The King of Bavaria had frequent interviews with the Emperor Charles, and the Emperor had also visited Austria. It is stated that when the Vardun was sounded regarding the eventuality it promised support in order to save the Roman Catholics of the two empires from Protestant influences.

GERMAN WAR LOANS.

LONDON, Feb. 22. The Paris correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" says that the German Government's instructions to the savings banks practically compel them to invest 85 per cent. of their deposits in future war loans.

POTATO SUPPLY IN PRUSSIA.

ROTTERDAM, Feb. 22. Herr von Schorff, Minister of Agriculture, has presented a gloomy report to the Prussian Chamber. He feared that potato and sugar planting would be still further decreased. The supply of seed potatoes had been reduced, because much had been used as food.

SUBMARINES.

FIVE MORE VICTIMS.

NUMBER OF LIVES LOST.

LONDON, Feb. 22. The British steamers (Pereus 6728 tons), Corso (1778 tons), Rosalie (4237 tons), and John Miles (587 tons) have been sunk.

Three Chinese and one European member of the crew of the Pereus are missing. The captain of the Corso and an engineer and two gunners were taken prisoner. Four survivors from the John Miles, all injured, have been landed, with two dead. Eight members of the crew are missing.

The American Consul-General at Barcelona reports that the Spanish steamer Skogland (3041 tons) has been submerged. The crew, including five Americans, have landed.

NO SURRENDER.

MADRID, Feb. 22. An Austrian submarine stopped the Spanish steamer Victoria Eugenia off Tarracon, and demanded the surrender of eight British passengers aboard. The captain replied that the ship was in Spanish waters and that the British were under the protection of the Spanish flag. He declared that he would not give them up. The Austrians withdrew. The captain received an ovation on his arrival at Barcelona.

VON CAPELLE'S STATEMENT. AMSTERDAM, Feb. 22. It is suggested here that the report of Admiral von Capelle, German Naval Secretary, concerning the impunity of German submarines, either aimed at heartening the Germans or drawing the British Admiralty into making disclosures.

FRENCH NAVAL VIEW.

PARIS, Feb. 22. A representative of the American United Press Association says that during an interview Admiral Lacaze (Minister of Marine) stated that the German submarine blockade would never succeed. German trickiness has inaugurated commercial war, but in reality to supply war submarines with necessities to enable them to prolong their cruises. One hundred ships daily have arrived unharmed in French ports, just as before the blockade's start.

The real motive, Admiral Lacaze added, was probably psychological. As Germany thought to reduce the allied morale when she was unable to beat the allied armies by brute strength, but this kind of thing was worthless.

NORWEGIAN MAIL SERVICES.

CHRISTIANIA, Feb. 22. It is officially announced that the Norwegian mail services to Western Europe and America have been resumed.

THE MINE DANGER.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22. Passengers on a steamer which has arrived report that a liner struck a mine in British waters, but returned to port. It is not believed the vessel was seriously damaged.

SPY MENACE.

MADRID, Feb. 22. In connection with the discovery of Caratena of a box of letters which were attached to one of which contained documents for submarines, a self-styled American has been arrested. He is suspected of being in Germany's service.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of another German agent.

THE ITALIANS.

GERMAN RAIDER.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 22. Commenting on the reports from South America concerning a German raider capturing the Danish steamer Hammerhus in the South Atlantic and forcing her to act as an auxiliary, the news states that the Hamnerhus left Rio Grande on January 12. The raider was of the Mowag type, named the Puma. She took the crew as prisoners, and placed a prize crew aboard the Hamnerhus. The latter entered Rio de Janeiro, and anchored near the interior German steamers, obtaining provisions and munitions. She attempted to reach the Gulf of Mexico, but was stopped. When she disobeyed the orders to stop, the Hamnerhus then returned and was interned.

CANADIAN INTERESTS.

DELEGATES IN LONDON.

LONDON, Feb. 22. Sir Robert Borden, Canadian Prime Minister, who had arrived in London, said that beyond the usual precautions he had not suffered any inconvenience on the journey, which had impressed him most vividly with the wonderful achievement of the navy in keeping the ocean pathways comparatively secure.

Referring to finance he said that Canada had not approached the London market for two years. A total of £200,000,000 had been subscribed in Canada, which was more than double the amount for which the Government had asked. Canada had also assisted British finance for munitions to the amount of £20,000,000 in payment for munitions.

Mr. Rogers (Canadian Minister for Public Works), another of the delegates to the Imperial Conference, will devote himself to emigration matters, while the other delegate, Mr. Hens (Canadian Minister of Marine), will confer with the Admiralty regarding future co-operation in naval defence.

EXTRAORDINARY STORY.

MUNITION WORKS EXPLOSIONS.

CHRISTIANIA, Feb. 22. A Norwegian who has returned from Germany relates an extraordinary story of explosions in enormous munition works in Breslau, which has hitherto been supposed. The Norwegian says the explosions occurred on December 28. Thirty thousand workers, including 2000 soldiers, were engaged. Several thousand were killed. The German Emperor visited the scene on the following day.

COUNT BERNSTORFF.

A REMARKABLE INTERVIEW.

THE LUSITANIA TRAGEDY.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22. The New York representative of "Pearson's Magazine" recently had a remarkable interview with Count von Bernstorff. Count von Bernstorff said: "My Government told me not to admit that the sinking of the Lusitania was illegal. President Wilson insisted that it was illegal. I left White House feeling that war was inevitable, but returning, begged President Wilson, man to man, not to give up the position of arbiter between the warring nations."

Count von Bernstorff said that he himself did not approve of the morality of the sinking of the Lusitania. The announcement of intended submarine warfare was a blow at the Ambassador, who felt that the work of years had been ruined, and by Germany.

Asked for his plans by the interviewer, the Countess interjected, "I want him chosen for Paris."

Count von Bernstorff: "It would be a superb man to win back French friendship."

The interviewer: "Why not give back the French provinces of Alsace-Lorraine?" Count von Bernstorff: "The German people would never give them up. We are the victors. That is out of the question."

Asked about England he said: "I was born in London in a London fog. The country life of England is simply perfect."

The interviewer asked for his views on religion and the future of Islam. Count von Bernstorff replied: "I know this world, and do not trouble about other. I frankly dislike churches, and doubt whether they have any influence for good. A man is a fool who denies himself any good thing in this world, but that which is the other dominant reason."

Count von Bernstorff described President Wilson as a rare combination of sensitive conscience and great strength. The interviewer asked: Count von Bernstorff will tell the Emperor the truth, but will he be in time to prevent the irreparable?

BERNSTORFF'S PARTY'S LUGGAGE.

WHAT A SEARCH REVEALED.

HALIFAX, Feb. 22. The search which has been made of the effects of Count von Bernstorff's party shows that each member supplied himself or herself with everything which is lacking in Canada. Hundreds of pairs of pyjamas were discovered, and they are likely to be of use to the British army for preventing wool and cotton reaching Germany.

SOUTH AFRICA.

STORY OF REBELLION.

COMMISSIONER'S FINDING.

CAPETOWN, Feb. 22. The commission's report on the origin of the rebellion at the outbreak of the war states that it was due to a section of the Boers in the Transvaal and the Orange Free State. Hoping to regain independence they considered they were offered a favourable opportunity. Evidence showed that Germans had for several years before the war been intriguing with certain Dutch South Africans, and expected them to aid in an invasion, for which the Germans were thoroughly prepared.

The Germans expected to utilize the Hertzsog element, especially after the Cabinet dropped Mr. Hertzog. They even discussed how the Dutch could be suitably rewarded, either by giving them Delagoa Bay or money.

The commission did not find evidence of direct relations between Germans and Dutch leaders, except in the case of Maritz, but it was shown that Delatry at the outbreak of the war plotted a rising with the Wet and Maritz, and that Beyers and Kemp adhered subsequently.

SALONICA FRONT.

INCREASED ACTIVITY.

LONDON, Feb. 22. A French communiqué issued from Salonica states: There has been artillery activity along the whole front, and patrol encounters near Seres and on the Kakovo front. We raided Brest near Lake Doiran and took prisoners. Two enemy counter-attacks were here repulsed.

Our armies have been most active, and have had several successes. We have bombed enemy columns near Seres and Melnik.

A German official message states: We drove back an English attempt east of the Vardar.

LONDON, Feb. 22. First-class-Australians: Matron-in-Chief E. T. Richardson, Matron A. M. Kellett, New Zealand: Matron-in-Chief M. Thurston.

Second-class-Australians: Matrons A. Barton, E. E. Bishop, A. M. Copper, E. Cornwell, A. M. Hancock, R. G. Kind, V. Mills, M. Russell, C. E. Shackell, E. M. Strickland, M. Youmans, Staff Nurses M. F. Wilson, and Sisters J. M. Gilmer and M. H. Wylie.

ROYAL RED CROSS.

THE WAR LOAN.

LONDON, Feb. 22. A semi-official message from Rome assures us that the Italian are ready for all eventualities. The rumours of a proposed Austrian offensive referred to in the message may or may not be founded on fact. There are many objections from the Austrian point of view to the suggestion that she should repeat the fruitless offensive which she delivered in the Trentino last spring. There is no doubt that in order to make a hard effort to break through the Italian lines, she would have to weaken her front in Galicia and Volhynia, an error which was painfully evident when General Brusiloff struck her in that direction. Although Austria effected a withdrawal from the Arco front in an orderly manner, and therefore prevented a bad blunder from being converted into a serious disaster, General Cadorna's troops kept her retreating armies in close touch that they were unable to reform divisions which were so urgently needed to stem the Russian offensive in Galicia.

ARRESTS IN IRELAND.

GERMAN PRECAUTIONS.

BERNE, Feb. 22. A large number of distinguished British and French officers have been placed in the concentration camp at Karlsruhe as a guarantee against aerial bombardments.

GERMAN CONFISCATION.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 22. The German Government has seized the Moravian estates of the Duchess of Vendome, King Albert's sister. The German Emperor sanctioned the seizure.

THE EMPIRE.

SUBJECTS FOR CONFERENCE.

CAPTURED GERMAN COLONIES.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22. The Washington correspondent of the New York "Tribune" has learned in diplomatic quarters that the subjects for discussion at the Imperial Conference, with representatives of Great Britain, the self-governing colonies, and India, the joint control of the Empire's foreign and Imperial policies, the consolidation of certain outlying British possessions, greater self-government for India, the participation of the colonies and India in the peace conference, and the demand of the dominions for a larger share in the determination of foreign policy.

The attitude of the dominion representatives, will be that New Zealand should hold the German islands she has occupied. Representatives of the dominions state that they would not feel secure with the Germans within a few days of British dominions. Britain, France, Belgium, and Portugal will readjust their African possessions.

The interviewer: "Why not give back the French provinces of Alsace-Lorraine?" Count von Bernstorff: "The German people would never give them up. We are the victors. That is out of the question."

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

WAR NOTES.

IN THE BALKANS.

Although there are as yet no signs of concerted move in the Balkans, the situation created by the invasion of Rumania has altered the position of affairs in the Balkans, but the future movement of the Balkan armies will, no doubt, still be closely associated with the plans of the Rumanians on the Sereth. The German retreat was stayed. If the enemy has withdrawn his striking force from this front, it is possible that the means which the Allies are providing to meet the enemy with a strong defence may be used in an effort to restore movement westward. The statement contained in the Rumanian communiqué to the effect that the Russian artillery is most active in the Balkans, is not surprising, and is in accordance with the part of the Allies to settle down to trench warfare in that region. Of course the broad river beyond which they elected to make their stand against the Austro-German advance, is not the enemy with a strong defence, but the Rumanian army, which is attempting to give line should the Russians attempt to advance the offensive. If this effort is to be made in Rumania we may trust General Marshall to keep the Austro-German army in Macedonia, and so to prevent the despatch of reinforcements across the Danube. The raid and patrol engagements reported to have occurred beyond the Vardar Valley, near Lake Doiran, may, therefore, be expected to increase in number and extent should a more ambitious allied move in Rumania be anticipated.

NATIONAL SERVICE.

LONDON, Feb. 22. In moving the second reading of the National Service Bill, Sir George Cave (Boltong, General) said it was not proposed to close down unessential trades, but to limit the amount of labour. The Government could not and would not use any of the powers in the bill to introduce industrial compulsion. Men and women must be found to supply munitions, otherwise the army would fall. He was drawing up a schedule of unessential trades, in which new labour would be forbidden. The national service scheme already employed 60,000 men.

Mr. F. A. Molteno moved a motion declining the bill, as it empowered industrial conscription. The Government's pledge ought to be embodied in the bill, and to limit the amount of labour. The Government could not and would not use any of the powers in the bill to introduce industrial compulsion. Men and women must be found to supply munitions, otherwise the army would fall. He was drawing up a schedule of unessential trades, in which new labour would be forbidden. The national service scheme already employed 60,000 men.

HOME RULE.

POSTPONEMENT OF DEBATE URGED.

LONDON, Feb. 22. Mr. Bonar Law, in the House of Commons, announced that the Irish debate would not be held until the 24th inst. Sir George Reid has given notice of motion concerning the necessity for strengthening the hands of the Allies at this critical stage, and regretting that the House is unable to deal with the matter. He said that the Government's attitude of neutrality is revealed by the prompt action of German spies, while the disapproval which Germany has expressed concerning Spain's reply to her Note regarding the blockade of England indicates that the Central Powers are by no means enamoured of the Spanish Government's attitude. In the "New Europe" magazine there appears, under the title "Don Quixote to Not Nod," an article by a Magyar, stating that the Spanish nation has been split into two antagonistic camps, and there are "many pro-Germans who out of loyalty to the Emperor, and a few pro-Allies who are not so loyal to the Emperor. The Spanish Roman Catholic Church, which the writer describes as "not so much religious as a political body," is said to be pre-determined while the attitude is attributed to the army and the Court. The three forces which make up the real Spain are business men, manual and intellectual workers, and these are credited with being pro-Allies. "The conclusion," he writes, "is the situation: Official Spain is pro-German, and real Spain is pro-Allies. And yet, officially, Spain is neutral, and favourable to the West. This is a very curious and, and shows that officialdom, all-powerful as it is in home questions, feels the influence of its position in international issues, and dares not defy the true will of the people."

FOOD RIOTS IN AMERICA.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22. There were wide protests against food prices. The situation in New York and Philadelphia. A man was shot and several women trampled to death. There have been many arrests. Hundreds of women in Philadelphia raided the markets and destroyed food with kerries. The police dispersed them.

WOUNDED SOLDIER ROBBED.

LONDON, Feb. 22. A man and two women have been sentenced to 15, six, and three months' hard labour respectively, at the London sessions on a charge of stealing £16 from Harry Heisma, a wounded Australian. The evidence showed that one of the prisoners recommended Heisma to so-called respectable lodgings near Finsbury, where he was robbed while recovering from his wounds. Heisma, a wounded Australian, was taken to a house in Finsbury, where he was robbed while recovering from his wounds. Heisma, a wounded Australian, was taken to a house in Finsbury, where he was robbed while recovering from his wounds.

ITALY PREPARED.

A semi-official message from Rome assures us that the Italian are ready for all eventualities. The rumours of a proposed Austrian offensive referred to in the message may or may not be founded on fact. There are many objections from the Austrian point of view to the suggestion that she should repeat the fruitless offensive which she delivered in the Trentino last spring. RESTRICTION OF IMPORTS.

LONDON, Feb. 22. It is expected that the principal restrictions of imports which Mr. Lloyd George will announce to-day will be upon fruit, wine, rice, and silk. In some cases there will be a reduction of 75 per cent. He will propose to prohibit the import of certain goods, and to restrict the import of others. A successful offensive on the part of the Central Powers would certainly strengthen their defensive position. The semi-official statement that the German offensive against the Allies is satisfactory, and repeats the assurance given by the Italian supreme command in their summary of the autumn operations.

ARRESTS IN IRELAND.

LONDON, Feb. 22. Further arrests have been made in Dublin, Limerick, Galway, and elsewhere, of men concerned in the late rebellion, as well as a number of those recently released in England, and officials of the Gaelic League.

GERMAN PRECAUTIONS.

BERNE, Feb. 22. A large number of distinguished British and French officers have been placed in the concentration camp at Karlsruhe as a guarantee against aerial bombardments.

GERMAN CONFISCATION.

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 22. The German Government has seized the Moravian estates of the Duchess of Vendome, King Albert's sister. The German Emperor sanctioned the seizure.

IMPERIAL PREFERENCE.

RESOURCES OF EMPIRE.

LONDON, Feb. 22.

The Empire Producers' Association held a luncheon in honour of Mr. W. P. Massey (Prime Minister of New Zealand).

The Marquis of Graham, who presided, said that Lord Balfour of Burleigh's report was the first statement in Empire recognition of the fact that the Empire is a source of capital and labour. There was no one having preference unless capital and labour benefited. They must dispel the idea that a tariff meant that the employer would get richer and the worker poorer.

Mr. Massey, in replying, said we were beginning to see that it was better to develop our own resources and provide for our own requirements than to purchase them from countries which might some time rise against us. Lord Balfour of Burleigh's report was the first statement in Empire recognition of the fact that the Empire is a source of capital and labour. There was no one having preference unless capital and labour benefited. They must dispel the idea that a tariff meant that the employer would get richer and the worker poorer.

No doubt, he said, Germany would enter into an economic conflict after the war. Therefore he hoped the Paris Conference decisions would not be lost sight of. The Empire could produce everything required for its sustenance as long as we kept common sense. Mr. Edward Carson's statement he was satisfied Germany would never wrest the control of the sea from us. There must be a complete reorganisation of our industrial and economic methods. We should have to reorganise the Empire with Imperial affairs understood them, and knew something more of the Empire than they could learn in the United Kingdom. New Zealand had to be put on a footing to increase her output of dairy produce and meat. Australia could largely increase her output of wool and beef. Canada her output of wheat and sugar. Africa her production of tropical products. We had allowed vast areas of the Empire to remain unproductive. He believed the forthcoming conference would effectively deal with the question of preference.
